PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,
THE COMPLETE WORKS OF
SIR WALTER SCOTT:
With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 17, 1833.

A Close Vote.—At an election for Senator, in Marion and Hamilton counties, (Indiana,) Morris and Morrison were the opposing candidates—two thousand and thirty five votes were polled. In one county Morris had a majority of nine votes, in the other county Morrison had a majority of ten votes, and of course was elected by a majority of one.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The intelligence from Portugal, which we publish to day, is of a very interesting character; and, if to be relied on, (and we see no reason to doubt it,) Don Pedro is likely to obtain some very decisive advantages. Algarve is the most southerly province of Portugal, and is almost as far south of Lisbon as Oporto is north of it. The possession of foothold, in both directions, will afford Don Pedro powerful means of annoyance, provided he retains the superiority at sea. The enthusiasm which seems to prevail in Algarve is a very encouraging symptom; and, upon a view of the whole matter, it would seem that the prospects of the constitutional party are cheering.

BACHE'S AURORA.—We publish the following account of an atrocious calumny, which appeared against Washington, in this vile paper, on the 11th March, 1797,—not for the purpose of strengthening the evidence against that paper, but to gratify the curiosity of our readers, and to give them another lesson as to the maddening influence of party spirit.—On the 11th March, 1797—just one week after Washington's second presidential term had expired, and when he had retired to Mount Vernon, hoping to enjoy, in tranquillity, the little residue of a life of which so much had been devoted to the service of his country—an article appeared in the Aurora, from which we make the following extracts.—The writer, having noticed Washington's denial of the forged letters, which we lately referred to, proceeds as follows:—

"Since he (Washington) prevailed upon himself to break the ice, there is another subject on which the public mind, I think, should receive some light. I have not known it lately to be a matter of public discussion, but it has been frequently brought forward in private conversations, and I never could find any one capable of giving a satisfactory explanation, and probably from the old date of this transaction, (1754) Mr. Washington may be the only person capable of giving an eclaircissement.

"The accusation in question is no less than having, while commanding a party of American troops, fired on a flag of truce; killed the officer in the act of reading a summons under the sanction of such a flag: of having attempted to vindicate the act, and yet of having signed a capitulation, in which the killing of that officer and his men was acknowledged as an act of assassination.

"The charge is of too serious a nature: firing on a flag of truce is so unprecedented an act, even in savage warfare; and signing an acknowledgement of having been guilty of assassination so degrading to a man, and especially to a military man, that I feel confident there must have been some egregious mis-statement in the account given of the business. I have imagined this also must be some forgery, or that Major George Washington who was taken at Fort Necessity, in 1754, could not be the same person as George Washington, late President of the United States."

The writer of the article seems to have been somewhat overawed by the loud burst of disapprobation which followed the publication of the infamous and blasphemous calumny of the 4th of March, 1797. He therefore did not make his charge in that direct and openly hostile manner which had been adopted the week before. He adopted the cowardly calumniator's favorite mode of operation—sly insinuation—"with all the kind mendacity of hints." The course adopted, one week before, had at least the credit of manliness, or fierce brutality. The writer of this article betrayed both malignity and base cowardice.

"The public should receive some light," says this infamous and cowardly calumniator. "The public should receive some light" on a charge which was made against Washington, by an enemy, forty three years before. "The public should receive some light" upon a subject which had been long forgotten!!! Is it not manifest that this was all pretence; the mere resort of a malignant and cowardly calumniator, who was afraid to give vent to his base feelings in a direct manner?

Having made these suggestions, merely to lead our readers to reflect upon and scrutinize the motives of the writer in Bache's Aurora, we now proceed to give a brief account of this whole matter, upon which this charge was based.

In the latter part of June, 1754, Washington, being on his march to this place, with about 300 Virginia troops, received information that the French had driven off a party of Virginians, who were erecting a redoubt, at the head of the Ohio, and that a detachment, from the French party, was advancing against him. About eight o'clock, in the night of the 27th of June, an express, from the Half King, a friendly Indian, reached Washington's camp, and stated that, on his way, he had seen the French troops encamped in a low, obscure place, not far distant. Washington immediately started, marched all night, and about sunrise next morning, arrived at the French camp—an engagement then ensued, in which the French commander, de Jumonville, and nine of his men were killed, and twenty one taken prisoners.

As soon as intelligence of this affair was received, Monsieur de Viller, the commandant at this post, with the whole French force, marched in quest of the Americans. Washington retreated to Fort Necessity, in Fayette county, and there, after a gallant defence, was compelled to capitulate. The capitulation was drawn up in French, a language not understood by Washington or any of his party, and in noticing the killing of de Jumonville, a French word, meaning to assassinate, was used. De Viller sent home his account of these transactions, with the articles of capitulation, which, three years afterwards, in 1757, were republished in this country, and then Washington, for the first time, learnt that he had signed a capitulation in which the killing of de Jumonville was called assassination. He immediately published a reply to the charge, from which we make the following extract:

"That we were wilfully, or ignorantly deceived by our interpreter in regard to the word assassination, I do aver, and will to my dying moment; so will every officer that was present. The interpreter was a Dutchman, little acquainted with the English tongue, therefore might not advert to the tone and meaning of the word in English; but, whatever his motives were for so doing, certain it is, he called it the death, or the loss of the Sieur Jumonville. So we received and so we understood it, until to our great surprise and mortification, we found it otherwise in a literal translation."

Chief Justice Marshal, in giving an account of this affair, has the following remark. After mentioning that Washington had, in 1757, written a letter to a friend "completely disproving the calumny," he proceeds, "though entirely discredited at the time, it (this charge,) was revived at a subsequent period, (in 1797,) when circumstances well known at the date of the transaction were supposed to be forgotten."

This, then, is the whole history of this matter, and our readers, we think, will have no difficulty in affixing the proper title to the writer and the press which would revive and promulgate such a charge against the father of his country, forty three years after the affair had occurred upon which it was based. When, as Judge Marshall says, circumstances well known at the time, were forgotten; when most of his fellow soldiers, and witnesses of the affair at Fort Necessity, were dead, and when its revival could not possibly answer any good purpose. Washington was then almost sixty seven years of age, and could not be expected to survive long. He had retired from public life, and even malice itself might have been content to let him remain in peace at Mount Vernon. But Bache and his compatriot could not rest while Washington was at ease.

LATEST NEWS!!

From the New York American, of Tuesday.

We take the following postscript from the Daily Advertiser of this morning. As yet, we have nothing further from the ship.

LATEST FROM LONDON.—Success of Don Pedro.—Our Pilot has just reached the city, having boarded the packet ship Ontario, Capt. Sebor, which sailed from Portsmouth, July 10th, and brings our regular files of London to the 9th July.

PORTUGAL.

The steam boat City of Waterford had arrived at Falmouth, with news to the 30th June, from Lagos. Count Villa Flor and Admiral Napier were carrying all before them. They had landed at Villa Real, and were marching to the interior.

Deputations from the neighboring towns had sent in their adhesion.

"Every where the people came forward, and hailed them with enthusiasm; gifts of money, horses, and arms were made, and numbers of the people have joined the expeditionary troops as volunteers. In Villa Real, Don Pedro's troops found 30 pieces of cannon, and £5,000 in the military chests, with some hundred stands of arms, plenty of ammunition, &c."

"It is calculated that he had already been joined by upwards of 2,000 men, the greater part of whom are regular troops."

"Letters have been received from Faro, of the 27th ult., and from Lagos of the 20th, which state that the expedition from Oporto had met with the most favorable reception, being, in both places, hailed as a deliverer, and joined by the militia, and the regular troops in the vicinity, and there was no doubt that, in less than a month, the flag of Donna Maria would be floating over every town in the province of Algarve."

The Irish Reform Bill passed Parliament, 274 to 94.

The West India Slavery Bill had been postponed to the 15th.

Since the above was in type, the editors of the Commercial Advertiser have favored us with the following, from their correspondent:

LONDON, (Thursday Evening,) July 9th,
Half past 7 o'clock.

The news received to day from Portugal, is of a very cheering description for the constitutional cause. It was brought by the City of Waterford steam vessel, one of the five which accompanied the expedition of Captain Napier from Oporto; it comes down to the 1st instant, on which day the vessel in question left Para, the chief town in the Kingdom of Algarve; in which place a regency has been established for the Young Queen, consisting of the Marquis Palmella, as President, Count Villa Real, and Captain Napier. The following is an extract from an official letter, received on this occasion:

FARO, 27th June.—It is with the greatest pleasure I write to you, dating my letter from hence. The multiplicity of affairs prevents my being very minute, and I must refer you to the bearer, for all details. All the cities, towns, and villages, forming the kingdom of Algarves, from Villa Real, to Lagos and Sagres, that is to say, the whole line of the sea coast, obeys already the government of the Queen. Those of the interior, as Loule, do the same also. In 2 or 3, as Olpas, Alberfeira, Villa Nova, the people who spontaneously proclaimed the Queen, even before our troops arrived, and in the presence almost of the Miguelites. The Governor, Viscount Molleboro, is on a precipitate retreat to Alentejo, with diminished and disorganized troops, by dispersion and desertion. Eight officers, and upwards of 200 soldiers of artillery, great numbers of soldiers of the regular army and militia, and all the officers of the navy, with the ships of war protecting the coast of Algarve, have joined us. In fact, hitherto, our success exceeds my most sanguine expectations. The only opposition we encountered was a few shots from the batteries on landing, and a small skirmish in entering Tavira. The Duke of Terceira is following up the enemy, and enters Alentejo.—The government remains at Faro, organizing the battalions of volunteers, militia, &c. Our cavalry is already mounted. We have found excellent trains of artillery, the military chest, with about £6,000 left behind by the governor in his hurry to run away. The squadron goes to morrow to blockade the Tagus; and intend, with the ships we here found, to act in concert with the Duke of Terceira, and probably my next will announce to you equal if not more agreeable tidings.

These are the principal facts stated, upon which, from the quarter through which they are received, perfect reliance may be placed. Some private accounts add, that the enthusiasm of the people in favor of the Queen, was so great, that in Olhas they put to death one of the magistrates who interfered to prevent her being proclamed there, and this occurred previous to the arrival of any part of the invading force. The Bishop of Faro had also sent in his adhesion. It was Captain Napier's intention to proceed immediately to blockade the Tagus, and his force was believed to be quite equal to the contest of Miguel's squadron, in the event of his falling in with it.

It is said that when the steamboat arrived at Falmouth with the news, another vessel, George the IVth, was gone out of port with Marshall Bourmont, destined to the command of Miguel's troops before Oporto. The latter vessel was hailed, and the intelligence brought by the Waterford communicated.

LATEST FROM CANTON.

By the ship Roman, Capt. Lavender, arrived at New York, Canton advices to April 4th, inclusive, have been received.

THE INSURRECTION.—The insurrection on the island of Formosa, which, at one time, threatened a protracted and serious opposition to the Chinese government, has been suppressed. Troops had been ordered from the provinces of Shan-tung and Chihle, which, previous to embarkation, were met by the intelligence of the "pacification" of the island. His Celestial Majesty is said to have recently regarded this affair in a more serious light, than at the first breaking out of the islanders, whom he dubbed "a mere assemblage of crows."

The above is from the Canton Register, of March 20th. The Chinese Repository, for March, which is published at the close of the month, contains the following:—

POSTSCRIPT.—Early in the present month it was announced in Canton, that the rebellion on the island of Formosa was at an end, and that the orders for more troops had been countermanded; but no account was given of the manner in which peace had been obtained.

Fuhken junks, which have recently arrived at Macao, bring reports that the insurgents, 200,000 strong, are in possession of Luh-urh-mun, and that the governor of Fuhkeen and other officers are at Keih-tsze-lan endeavoring to subdue the rebels by offers of money and of office; and this system, (the same that was finally adopted at Leenchow,) has, it is said, been partially successful.

From Gibraltar.—The Gibraltar Chronicle, of the 8th of July, received at Boston, by the brig Pioneer, contains extracts from a private letter from Madrid, by which it appears that the landing of the expedition on the coast of Algarve, on the evening of the 24th June, was known at Lisbon the next day, and immediate measures adopted to send a strong and exterminating force against the rebels. A vessel which arrived at Gibraltar on the 6th July, reported that she saw, in the morning of the 4th, about fifteen miles from Cape St. Vincent, the Miguelite and Pedroite squadrons, sailing in two parallel lines, the latter close to, and the former at a great distance from the coast, in the direction of Cape St. Mary's. Don Miguel's consisted of eleven vessels, and Don Pedro's of nine, three of which were steam boats. After they had been lost sight of, the master of the vessel heard the report of cannon.—Poulson.

Splendid Bedstead.—There has been lately exhibited in the Palace of the Tamedo, at St. Petersburgh, a state bed, constructed at the royal manufactory, by order of the Emperor, to be sent as a present to the Schah of Persia. It is formed of solid crystal, resplendent with silver ornaments. It is ascended by steps of blue glass, and has a fountain underneath, so contrived as to throw out on each side jets of odoriferous waters. The effect when the chamber is lighted up is absolutely dazzling, as it has the appearance of myriads of diamonds.—Galignani's Messenger.

From the Edinburgh Evening Courant.

Extraordinary Occurrence.—On Thursday, while Mr. Montgomery, a banker in Irvine, and another gentleman were fishing in the river Gernock, they were struck with the appearance of a whirlpool in the centre of the river, which appeared as if the waters were rapidly descending into the earth. They immediately concluded that the bed of the river had given away and that the waters were descending into the collieries beneath, and hastened to the nearest pits mouth to give an alarm. The men below soon heard the mighty rushing of the waters, and hastened to escape, which providentially they all effected, though without a moment to spare, several of them being up to their necks in water. The water continued to pour into the extensive cavities beneath, and the next day a tremendously large space broke down, into which the whole river descended, leaving its bed quite dry for the space of a mile on each side of the aperture where it had previously been six feet deep. On the flowing of the tide the depth of the water below the chasm increased to nine feet; the desolation was awful. The water still rushed in a torrent into the earth. Three men in a boat had an almost miraculous escape from being sucked into the vortex; they had no sooner got out than the boat was drawn down with fearful rapidity.

The great body of water continued to pour down till the whole workings which extended many miles, were completely filled. A new scene of teror now presented itself—the imprisoned air, pressed by the weight of water, burst through the surface of the earth in a thousand places, which, for the extent of many acres, presented the appearance of a boiling caldron. Immense quantities of sand and water were thrown up and descended like torrents of rain for many hours. By this calamity six hundred persons are thrown out of employ; and so extensive is the destruction as to preclude the hope that the works are ever to be restored to their former state.

The Buonaparte Family.—The idea which has generally prevailed that Napoleon was of plebeian origin, is wholly erroneous. On the contrary, his family was one of the most ancient and respectable upon the island of Corsica. This island was, originally, attached to the republic of Genoa.—The oppressed people of Corsica, nearly a century ago, undertook to transfer the power exercised by the Genoese to themselves. They partially succeeded, and made Theodore, of Corsica, King.—He possessed no talents, however, for supreme command—and being without resources, either in mind or money—was compelled to abandon his little realm, and fled to England for succor. That government had little inclination to aid the cause of upstart royalty, and, being otherwise engaged, Theodore sunk to insignificance, and died in London, miserably poor, in 1756. Fearing, however, that England might avail itself of the opportunity to add Corsica to its dominions, the French government, between 1760 and 1770, made descent upon it, took possession, and sent 500 prisoners to Toulon. Pascal Paoli, one of the distinguished Corsican patriots, soon after the subjection of his country, retired also to England, where he also died in obscurity.

An arrangement was soon after effected between the conquerors and the conquered, by which it was stipulated that, in consideration of the advantages which the French were to possess, one hundred youths might be sent annually to France, and educated at the national expense, selected from the nobility and best families of Corsica. This arrangement, we believe, continues in force to the present time. Among those who availed themselves of this privilege, was Cardinal Fesch, the uncle of Napoleon; and after him the ex-Emperor, was educated at the Royal Academy. The late Dr. Felix Pascalis, of this city, was a classmate of the Cardinal, in the south of France, and always spoke of him as a man of distinguished talents and amiable deportment.

But for the petty revolution of a few factious spirits, and the train of events that followed it, the mighty mind of Napoleon would probably have never been developed, and the Giant among Kings have risen in his native isle to no higher rank than a Chevalier or Alcalde.—N. Y. Amer.

Polynesian Researches.—A delightful book, full of facts, relating to a quarter of the globe in which the Rev. author, Mr. Ellis, passed nearly eight years of his life. Polynesia is the name given to the islands in the South Pacific, on a tract of ocean about 5,000 miles by 3,500, and including the Ladrones, Carolinas, Pelew, Friendly, Navigators, Georgian, Harvey, Marquesas, Society, and Sandwich—in the two last of which our author spent most of his time. The descriptions of scenery are accurate and beautiful. Of the effect of the trade wind it is said—the long rolling billows of the Pacific, extending sometimes, in one unbroken line, a mile or a mile and a half along the reef, arrested by this natural barrier, often rise ten, twelve or fourteen feet above its surface; and then, bending over it their white foaming tops, form a graceful liquid arch, glittering in the rays of a tropical sun, as if studded with brilliants. But, before the eyes of the spectator can follow the splendid aqueous gallery which they appear to have reared, with loud and hollow roar they fall in magnificent desolation, and spread the gigantic fabric in froth and spray upon the horizontal and gently broken surface of the coral."

Speaking of the natural ingenuity of this barbarous people, Mr. Ellis says:—

"In the fabrication of glazed cloth, the natives of the Austral Islands, especially those of Rurutu, excel all with whom I am acquainted. Some of their pieces of cloth are thirty or forty yards square, exceedingly thick, and glazed on both sides, resembling the upper side of the English oil cloth table covers. It must have required immense labor to prepare it, yet it was abundant when they were first discovered. It is usually red on one side, and black on the other, the latter being highly varnished with a vegetable gum.

"In the manufacture of cloth the females of all ranks were employed; and the queen, and wives of the chiefs of the highest rank, strove to excel in some department—in the elegance of the pattern, or the brilliancy of the color. They are fond of society, and worked in large parties, in open and temporary houses erected for the purpose. Visiting one of these houses at Elimeo, I saw sixteen or twenty females all employed. The queen sat in the midst, surrounded by several chief women, each with a mallet in her hand beating the bark that was spread before her. The queen worked as diligently and cheerfully as any present."

The amusements, too, of the people, like their labors, were shared in by the women. This was true of wrestling even, for, says Mr. E., the women contended sometimes with each other, and occasionally with men, who were not perhaps reputed wrestlers. Persons in the highest rank sometimes engaged in the sport, and the sister of the queen has been seen wearing nearly the same clothing as the wrestlers wore, covered all over with sand, and wrestling with a young chief, in the midst of a ring, around which thousands of the people were assembled. It is curious to observe that cock fighting, one of the savage customs of civilized nations, is an old sport of these islanders.

The inhabitants of one district often match their birds against those of another, or those of one division of a district against those of another. They do not appear to have entertained any predilection for particular color in the fowls, but seem to have esteemed all alike. They never trimmed any of their feathers, but were proud to see them with heavy wings, full feathered necks, and long tails.—They also accustomed them to fight without artificial spurs or other means of injury."

The Odd Family.—In the reign of William III, there lived in Ipswich, in Suffolk, a family which, from the number of peculiarities belonging to it, was distinguished by the name of the Odd Family. Every event, whether good or bad, happened to this family on an odd day of the month, and every one of them had something odd in his or her person, manner, and behavior—the very letters in their christian names always happened to be an odd number. The husband's name was Peter, and the wife's Rabah; they had seven children, all boys, viz. Solomon, Roger, James, Matthew, Jonas, and Ezekiel. The husband had but one leg, and his wife but one arm. Solomon was born blind of the left eye, and Roger lost his right eye by an accident; James had his left ear pulled off by a boy in a quarrel, and Matthew was born with only three fingers on his right hand; Jonas had a stump foot, and David was hump backed; all these, except David, were remarkably short, while Ezekiel was six feet two inches high at the age of nineteen; the stump-footed Jonas and the hump back David got wives of fortune, but no girls would listen to the addresses of the rest. The husband's hair was as black as jet, and the wife's remarkably white, yet every one of the children's was red. The husband had the peculiar misfortune of falling into a deep saw pit, where he was starved to death in the year 1701, and his wife, refusing all kind of sustenance, died in five days after him. In the year 1703, Ezekiel enlisted as a grenadier, and although he was afterwards wounded in twenty-three places, he recovered. Then Roger, James, Matthew, Jonas, and David, died at different places, on the same day, in 1713, and Solomon and Ezekiel were drowned together in crossing the Thames, in the year 1723.

African Colonization Society.—A meeting was held in London on the 27th June, at which Lord Bexley presided, having for its object to organize measures for founding a settlement similar to that of Liberia, on some part of the coast of Africa where the slave trade is still carried on, with a view to its extinction; the settlers to be free blacks from this country, and native negroes.

After taking the chair, Lord Bexley callled on Mr. Cresson, from this country, to explain the operation and success of the American Society; which he having done, resolutions were passed in conformity, and a large and general meeting was proposed for the 3d July, at which the Duke of Sussex was expected to preside. The question whether the proposed settlement should be under British or American Government, was referred to a Committee who were to report at the general meeting.

On the other hand, Mr. Garrison has had a meeting at Liverpool, at which James Cropper presided, and where he stated all the sufferings and persecutions which his fanaticism had brought upon him in this country, denounced the Colonization Society as the cunning device of slave holders to perpetuate their own power declared that all the proceedings of Mr. Cresson, in getting up an interest in favor of that Society, were carried on under false pretences, and challenged Mr. C., who was present, to controvert any of his positions. Mr. C. declined any discussion with Mr. Garrison. Thus we see that these fanatics, who aim at immediate emancipation, are not content with separating themselves from the Colonization Society at home, but must seek to injure it both at home and abroad. This course, we confess, seems to us to savor much more of passion, and the spirit of indiscriminate opposition, than of pure philanthropy. No one, we apprehend, disputes that the Society does ameliorate the condition of those whom it settles at Liberia, and thus accomplishes positive good; and he that calmly undertakes to throw away positive good, in a speculative pursuit of something better, is neither a wise nor a good man.—N. Y. American.

Curability of Insanity.—The Worcester Spy states, that within a few days past, six persons have been discharged cured, from the Lunatic Hospital. This is a gratifying fact. There is no department, perhaps, of the healing profession in which so much reform remains to be made, and to be supported by the public, as in the treatment of the insane. How much may be done for a class who are but too frequently considered as hopelessly done with the world when their derangement commences, and consequently treated in a manne. eather adapted to aggravate or create the very evil it takes for granted, is shown by the Records of Asylums in the Appendix of Spurzheim's Insanity. It appears that in England, the average proportion of those cured among the occupants of twelve hospitals, for a long period of years, was 37 2-5 per cent. In France, among fourteen Institutions, it was 44 9-11. In this country it was 41 3-10, in five Institutions. In the New York Asylum, for 26 years, it was 44.19; in the Connecticut Retreat, for 5 years, 51.01. The last is the most signal instance of success. Generally it would seem that the management in the French hospitals exceeds that in any other part of the world.—Bost. Jour.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.—A meeting has been recently held at Mecklenburgh in Virginia, for the purpose of nominating a President of the U. States, for the term commencing on the 4th of March, 1837. The individual selected was the Hon. Benjamin Watkins Leigh. The name of the Hon. Chapman Johnson has also been mentioned in a leading paper of that state for the same high office.

We had hoped that this exciting subject might rest for at least two years to come, and that some period of repose in each Presidental term might be allowed to the good people of the United States. This hope, however, is not likely to be realized. Virginia has evidently taken the field in earnest, with the resolution of again placing one of her own sons in the Executive chair. The Mecklenburgh nomination is as regular and as binding as a Baltimore nomination ought to be—and the gentleman named is conceded to be a man of superior talents and high personal worth altho' somewhat too deeply imbued with the close construction doctrines. We are much mistaken in the man if he would not spurn at the paltry artifices and tricks to which certain other aspirants would rejoice to owe their success. Worse men than Mr. Leigh may be in nomination before the campaign is over, in the North as well as the South.—N. Y. Spectator.

The death of the Hon. John Stanly is announced as having taken place at Newbern, N. C., on the 3d. He was for several Congresses a representative of that district in the House of Representatives of the U. S., and for many years a leading politician and statesman in his native State. His reputation as a man of great abilities, especially as an orator and debater, is, among North Carolinians, second to none. He has lingered for eight years under a paralysis which attacked him in the delivery of an animated speech, on the floor of the House of Commons, of which body he was at the time Speaker, in the session of 1826, '27. The State sustained a great loss, in his abstraction from her councils, and though for so many years withdrawn from the public eye, his death will be received with very general regret.—Baltimore American.

Among the deaths recorded in late London papers, we find that of Anne, second daughter of Sir Walter Scott, who died in London on the 25th June. The immediate cause of her death was brain fever—although she is said never to have entirely rallied after her father's death.—New York American.

Iron Making.—Few persons, not acquainted with the details of iron making, have any idea of the amount of fuel which is consumed in the process. A gentleman who has two furnaces and a forge in New Jersey, states that his annual consumption of fuel is about sixteen thousand cords. Twenty thousand acres of wood land, such as is to be found in the iron regions of New Jersey, is deemed hardly sufficient to ensure a permanent supply of fuel for a single furnace. The number of furnaces in New Jersey, is twelve.—Nat. Gaz.

Odoriferous.—The editor of a Kentucky paper, by way of justifying some remarks used in reference to a political opponent, observes that "the language of civility would be worse than wasted upon such a miscreant. Who would think of returning the salutations of a pole cat by sprinkling the odorous beast with cologne or rose water?"

Indiana Election.—From all the information received, it is supposed that Ratliff Boon is elected to Congress in the 1st District. John Carr in the 3d, Amos Lane in the 4th, and Edward A. Hannegan in the 7th. The contest in the 2d and in the 5th Districts is still considered doubtful.—Indianapolis Journal.

Mount Vesuvius has been in a state of irruption since the 28th of May, and is daily thronged with thousands, many of whom pass the night at the brink of the crater; among them are considerable numbers of English. At about fifty paces from the burning bed of lava, booths are erected for supplying refreshments.

Accounts from Rome, of June 4th, state that the Pope was suffering under severe illness.—Poulson.

Fine Passage.—The fast sailing packet ship Canada, Captain Britton, arrived at London on the 29th June—being only the 18th day from the time she left the dock at New York, until she was docked again at London. This is the shortest passage ever made between the two ports.

"The first Revolution," says a Parisian journalist, "produced the destruction of the Bastile; the second has produced the construction of fourteen!"

Consumption of Spirits.—The enormous quantity of 6,948, 205 imperial gallons of proof spirits were consumed in England, Scotland, and Ireland, during the quarter ending the 5th of April, 1833.

A Dublin paper asserts, on the most indubitable authority, that upwards of 800 Romanists have, within a short time, become converts to the Protestant religion in several parts of Ireland.

PROSPECT HILL
Literary & Scientific Institution.
PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

New Theatre, Pittsburgh.

THE Public is respectfully informed, that this ELEGANT NEW THEATRE, at present building, in Fifth Street, will be opened for the Season, under the management of the subscriber, with a Dramatic Company not surpassed by any in the Union, on Monday, the Second of September, 1833.

The building has been substantially erected, by those well known Mechanics, Messrs. Roseburg, Reynolds, Scott, & McCulloch, after a plan drawn by John Haviland, Esq., of Philadelphia, whose justly acquired fame as an Architect will be increased by the style and Beauty of the Present Edifice.

A first rate London Artist has been employed, for the last three months, in preparing the Dresses especially for this Theatre, which, in point of

ELEGANCE AND SPLENDOR,

Will equal, if not surpass those belonging to the Metropolitan Theatres of New York, or Philadelphia.

THE SCENERY

Has been designed and executed by Mr. J. R. Smith, a young Artist of great talent, and whose productions may challenge comparison with those of the most distinguished Scene Painters of the day.

THE MACHINERY

Has been entrusted to the care of Mr. Stafford, late of the Philadelphia Theatres, and the direction of the

MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT

Will be placed under the Superintendence of Mr. Hoffner, of the Chesnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia.

In addition to the exertions of the Regular Company, most of whom are advantageously known in the Eastern Theatres, the Manager has great pride and pleasure in informing the inhabitants of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, that he has engaged, at great expense, the celebrated American Tragedian

MR. E. FORREST,

Who will have the honor of appearing before them at an early period, of which due notice will be given. Negotiations have already been entered into with the most distinguished Performers of the American Stage, who will appear in rapid succession—among others,

MR. & MRS. HILSON,
MISS CLARA FISHER,
MRS. KNIGHT,
MR. J. R. SCOTT,

Also, Mr. PARSLOE, of the Theatre, Covent Garden, London, &c. &c. &c.

In making these arrangements, the subscriber has used every exertion in his power to render THE THEATRE a place of rational amusement—

"To raise the genius and to mend the heart;
Shew Virtue her own features;
Vice her own image;
The age and body of the time, his form and pressure."

And he throws himself confidently on the liberality of the citizens of Pittsburgh for support.

SATIN BEAVER HAT MANUFACTORY,

NO. 6 ST. CLAIR STREET,
PITTSBURGH.

WILSON & SMITH, from N. York,

RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Pittsburgh and the neighboring towns, that they have commenced the manufacture of the above beautiful and elegant article, so much admired and worn throughout Europe, and the principal cities in the United States.

W. & S. beg leave to observe, that, after various experiments, they have at last succeeded in bringing this Hat to the highest state of perfection, and they can assert, with confidence, that in point of color, lightness, elasticity, durability, and general beauty of appearance, they cannot be sur passed by the most expensive Hat that is made. Gentlemen are invited to call and examine them, and judge for themselves.

Wholesale Dealers supplied at the same prices as in the New York markets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S ☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not biing my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a l cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river, where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
